Dear Mom + Dad,

Am now in Manchester on my four day pass. Its a quiet place, not too many soldiers around, so I like it better than London.

I've been taking in the usual musicals etc. Last night I saw "The Night in Venice" at the Opera House.
Pretty good.

The hotel situation here is just about as bad as London. I have a nice room tho' at an allied Officers Club right in the middle of town.

I think the best part of these passes is getting back to the base to the big batch of mail that always waits me!

There is a good Red Cross Club here — best food in town.

Time for ——— much love to all —

Love

Dear Mother and Dad

Sorry not to have written in the past three days but I've been working for some straight - its little sleep. Someday soon I'm going to get away from all this and go to a football game. The teams out here sound pretty good and I do want to see some west coast football while I'm out here.

The work has been pretty steady and I can feel the lack of sleep quite a bit. Tonight, however, I plan to start living normally once again.

I do not know when you're going overseas but please don't send any Christmas presents yet. You see, I have no locker or anything to keep them in sight. Our new barracks are not yet equipped with lockers.

I got Mother's big bunch of stuff last Saturday so you can see the mail is pretty prompt as for as packages go. Tonight I plan to go to the movies. The pictures each evening are the best and I've seen many good films since my arrival here.

All the papers and things arrive here usually in a deluge so that I can read with pleasure for one or two steady hours. I've read quite a lot of good books in the past two months so if a new book comes out, not about the war, please send it to me. I buy a wonderful source of pleasure to me and I'd like to have one or two new ones of my own.

I made a bet with one of the fellows about the outcome of the worlds. since I said the Cards would take four out of five. I see that the Browns have taken the opener so my team will really have to hustle.

Isabelle Hall tells me that Stan and Frank are in Belgium now. I wonder where Jan is. I hope the war will be over in Europe by Christmas. That would be a nice present for all.

Belmont High did not do so well in the opening game, did they. I think as the season wears on they'll be a lot better because they have the weight. Up to now the Harvard team has done very well. Last Saturday we turned in the Illinois Great Lakes game and it was quite a Thriller.

That's nice about Boston new Arch Bishop. Sometimes the American does run a clean & article.

The laundry service out here is good work but too slow. It reminds me of home a little. We've got a big victrola out here now and it's pretty good. I've only a few records but they're too much when I'm moving around.

Love,

Peter

What would you and Nick like for your birthday?
I should say what do you need.

FLICKERS

Hiding behind Jimmy Durante's nose a few pictures back was a young lady who made the P. E. A. gymnasium resound with more sighs and groans than the 2.15 gym class. The film was "Two Girls and a Sailor"; the girl, June Allyson. In reply to these pulmonary reactions, Flickers herewith records "The Saga of June."

June Allyson

June, born on October 7, 1927 (that's Hollywood for you), was, according to her MGM biography, "a tomboyish youngster until she was nine, when a heavy tree, struck by lightning, toppled on her, inflicting a fractured skull, broken arm and leg." This presumably changed her outlook on life, for after spending several months in the hospital, she had a strong desire to become a nurse.

REVIEW BY

#

While still in high school, June was given her first job in a Broadway show. She never took a dancing lesson but taught herself by watching Fred Astaire in "The Gay Divorcee" 18 times. Growing weary of "The Gay Divorcee," she proceeded on a dare to join the cast of "Sing Out the News," a reputable Broadway musical. While dancing in the chorus she pursued her studies at Roosevelt High School in Westchester, New York, and graduated with highest honors. Between classes she also found time to appear in Jerome Kern's "Very Warm for May," as well as "Higher and Higher." At the time she was offered an MGM contract but was not persuaded to sign until that company filmed "Best Foot Forward." George Abbott, the producer, had seen June in Ethel Merman's "Panama Hattie" and had given her a featured role in "Best Foot Forward," a part which she recreated in the film version. Specialty song numbers in "Girl Crazy" and "Thousands Cheer," plus a role in "Meet the People" earned her the lead opposite Van Johnson in "Two Girls and a Sailor." Now playing the lead in "Music for Millions" and "Brighton Beach," she is MGM's most promising candidate for stardom.

Alfred Emmanuel Smith, 1873-1944.

Alfred Emanuel Smith, four times Governor of New York and Democratic nominee for President in 1928, died Wednesday morning in Rockefeller Institute Hospital of lung congestion and heart disease. He was seventy years old. He lay in state in St. Patrick's Cathedral, a rare honor for a layman, from Friday afternoon until the solemn pontifical mass of requiem yesterday morning.

Dear Mother and Dad,

I was surely pleased to see that Belmont beat Weymouth last Saturday. As I said in my letter to you yesterday, Belmont has a lot of weight this fall. The two snap shots you sent were nice and the first I've had from you in quite a while.

Yes, I got those cookies and they were pretty super. Everything that you've sent has been wonderful and thank you no end. Last night I saw, "Meet The People", and it was pretty good musically. I've received the first Christmas present but I think we'll be here for a long while yet so please don't send any more. I haven't any place to keep them that I could depend on.

I don't know if

I've told you or not but I'm now section head of our radio department. It doesn't offer much except for a good future if this war goes on which I hope never happens.

It was quite a ball game today, too, and I can still win my bet on the Cards taking four out of five.

Peter

AT SPORTSMAN'S PARK YESTERDAY AS THE BROWNS CAPTURED FIRST WORLD SERIES GAME

33,342 fans packed the stands to watch the two St. Louis teams start their struggle for the 1944 baseball championship

The announcement last week in this paper that the fine residence of James S. Wemyss was for sale was disturbing news to us as it must have been to many others. It would infer that the Wemyss family are to give up residence in Lancaster and that we deeply regret. We appreciate that his health has been poor for some time and this move would indicate that he intends to sever his active connection with the mills at Northumberland and Groveton. If ever a community owed one man much then Lancaster owes it to Mr. Wemyss whose successful operation of the plant at Northumberland took up much of the slack of unemployment during the depression and has had a job for any that applied since then. He has done much the same for Groveton in taking over the Groveton Papers Co. While we assume that these plants will continue to operate as usual unless conditions become impossible we, none the less, regret the departure of the Wemyss family for themselves as individuals. We have always felt in conversing with Mr. Wemyss that he knew what he was talking about, have been impressed with his ability. Lancaster has never recognized that or his wide business contacts as it should, doubtless because his own business was without the town limits. We are sure, however, that all join with us in regretting this removal from Lancaster and in the hope that rest will restore Mr. Wemyss to health.

Dear Mother and Dad,

This morning I took a physical for overseas duty.
It wasn't much - eyes, ears, nose and just the usual formalities. My blood pressure was 133 - 90 which is quite high I imagine for me. That was greatly due to my nervousness which I always get from the fear of being nabbed for atomic

A Return Date

Bostonians got a "re-run" of mid-summer weather yesterday when the mercury climbed to a mark of 85 during the afternoon, threatening to set a new record for Oct. 7.

The Indian Summer shoved the temperature within one degree of the all-time high reading of 86 degrees established in 1912.

The 85-degree reading held from 3:30 to 4:30 p. m. but began to cool off as the sun descended.

Back up A WINNING TEAM

Sure, you want to back a winner—in football or in war. And you've been doing it with war work, with salvage, with War Bonds. In fact, you've been doing a magnificent job of helping to win the war—up to now.

But now that victory seems assured—now what? Now, more than ever, we must back up those who are fighting to make that victory sure and doubly sure.

There can be no relaxing—no letting up in our War Bond buying.

Don't stop until you've invested to the very limit. Our fighting men won't stop; you can depend on that!

Back up the winning team—until the final shot.

Harvard Songs and Cheers

FAIR HARVARD

Harvard! thy sons to thy jubilee throng,
With blessings surrender thee o'er,
These festival rites, from the age that is past
The age that is waiting before.
The type of our ancestors' worth
Has long kept their memory warm,
The flower of their wilderness! star of their night!
Rising through change and through storm!

GRIDIRON KING

At the line for Harvard
For Harvard wins today
And we'll show the sons of Eli
That the Crimson still holds sway.
Creep down the field again
Victory or die,
And we'll give the grand old cheer boys
When the Harvard team goes by.

UP THE STREET

Where the Crimson banners fly!
To the sound of tramping feet!
Is a host approaching nigh—
Harvard is marching up the street!
Led to victory again!
Singing with drum-beat and with song—
The refrain!
It thunders along—as it thunders along!
They come in view!
We wear the Crimson hue.
Our arms are strong, whose hearts are true!
Fidelity to Harvard,
Harvard's glory shall be our aim,
Through the ages the sound shall roll
And all together we cheer her name—
And we cheer her with heart and soul.

HARVARDIANA

With Crimson in triumph flashing
Mid the strains of victory,
Poor Eli's hopes we are dashing Into blue obscurity.
Resistless our team sweeps goalward
Mid the fury of the blast;
We'll fight for dear old Harvard
Till the last white line is passed.
Harvard! Harvard! Harvard!
Harvard! Harvard! Harvard!
Harvard! Harvard! Harvard!

OUR DIRECTOR

Hard luck for poor old Eli!
Tough on the Blue!
Now, all together,
Smash them and break through!
'Gainst the line of Crimson
They can't prevail.
Three cheers for Harvard
And down with Yale!

VERITAS

We say Hooray! Hooray! Hooray!
There's never an Eli can teach us to play.

Harvard! Harvard! Harvard!
See the bleachers blue turn pale with fright.
Send a cheer across to bleach them nice and white.
Oh, look at the way we smash and rip them through,
While the blue bulldog howls "Boola, Boola, Boo."

Let out your voices now so loud and hale
'Tis a funeral ode we sing to Eli Yale—
Then give us a yell—HI-HI—for Harvard,
For the Crimson today.

HARVARD'S OWN

The Harvard throng is marching,
Thund'rous are the voices;
A hundred thousand footsteps
Sound in measured tread.
All Harvard's sons are gathering
On Harvard's day of triumph;
The Crimson banners flourish
Above fair Harvard's gates.

TRIO

They tell in song and story:
Harvard's own holds sway;
The Crimson team advances,
Fights to win the fray.
A blazing Crimson sunset
Floods the closing day;
A shout! A roar! A touchdown!
Harvard wins today.

TEN THOUSAND MEN OF HARVARD

For years past, the teams of Crimson
Have won triumph after triumph from her foe.
Her glory has ne'er diminished;
To defeat the men of Crimson cannot go.
Then victory must now be certain,
For the loyal sons of Harvard know no fear.
All rise for Harvard and we'll give her cheer on cheer.

CHORUS

Ten thousand men of Harvard want vict'ry
today
For they know that o'er old Eli Fair Harvard holds sway;
So then we'll conquer old Eli's men,
And when the game ends we'll sing again.
Ten thousand men of Harvard gained vict'ry
today.

SOLDIERS FIELD

O'er the stands in flaming crimson Harvard banners fly;
Cheer on cheer, like volleyed thunder.
Echoes to the sky.
See the crimson tide is turning,
Gaining more and more.
Then FIGHT, FIGHT, FIGHT, for we win tonight,
Old Harvard forevermore.

FOOTBALL PAYS DIVIDENDS IN BATTLE

THE BITTER RIVALRY between Salina and Abilene High Schools in Kansas was brewing at an unusually high pitch. Salina had a great team. Its coach had developed a powerful play, a delayed smash through tackle, that had been primarily responsible for Salina's long string of victories. Eager to run up a large score on the underdog Abilene team, the Salina quarterback called for this off-tackle play in the early moments of the ball game. As expected, the play clicked perfectly as the frail Abilene tackle was sucked out of position and hurled aside by a pair of fierce blocks. The play worked out so well the first time that the Salina quarterback enthusiastically barked out the signals for the ground-gainer in the next sequence of downs. But the lid was off and the young Abilene tackle bounced the ball carrier back four yards behind the line of scrimmage. And he repeated this spine-tingling defensive play again and again throughout the remainder of the game. Every time Salina attempted their heretofore infallible line smash the result was the same. That young player who was fooled the first time but never after that is none other than the Supreme Commander of the Allied Armies now throwing the Germans back in his great drive on Berlin.

By a curious quirk of fate young Dwight D. Eisenhower entered the United States Military Academy in June, 1911, at the age of twenty-one. His first choice, strangely enough, was to enter the Naval Academy at Annapolis, but upon submitting his papers it was found that the future general was a few months over the age limit. Today, his choice is still West Point, evidenced by the fact that his only child, a son, John Sheldon Doud, followed the Eisenhower tradition by graduating from the Military Academy last June.

Kansas in general and Abilene in particular claim General Eisenhower as their native son, but actually he was born in Dennison, Texas, while his father was working on an engineering project. When only two months old he was taken to Abilene and so the stamp of Kansas is deeply marked upon him.

When young "Ike" entered high school he was many pounds lighter than the average of his classmates, but he was, according to his old football coach, "the most outstanding tackle in the valley." His special talents were his speed and ability to diagnose the plays of his opponents.

At West Point Eisenhower turned out for the Academy freshman team and was shifted to the backfield. His brilliant ball carrying captivated the entire freshman coaching staff and West Point looked forward to the following season with high hopes as this Plebe kept churning off the yardage.

True to form, Ike was rapidly developing into the most promising back in Eastern football. Against a strong Colgate eleven, Eisenhower could not be stopped. But fate again caught up with him. In a game with Tufts, Cadet Eisenhower broke his knee on one of his daring plunges into the line and the career of a truly great football player was abruptly ended.

Not content to be entirely severed from the game he so dearly loved, Eisenhower turned to coaching the Cullum Hall or freshman team and also urged the varsity eleven on to victory as the cadet cheerleader.

General Eisenhower graduated from West Point in the upper third of his class in 1915 and became a specialist in tank warfare, serving in the last war as a Lieutenant Colonel.

The General likes and respects a good soldier and speaks his language. He is a soldier's soldier who never forgets in the large scope of the strategic pattern that it is usually the foot soldier, tramping through thick and thin, mile after mile, who achieves the final victory. Nothing bears this out more firmly than his stirring military achievements in North Africa, Tunisia, Sicily and the ever-progressing march into fortress Europe today.

General Ike won his license as an airplane pilot at the age of 48. Of flying, Eisenhower said: "There's exultation being up there in the blue all by yourself. No muddy roads, no detours, no signs. If you want to take a look at something, you dive down and look at it. If you don't like it, you soar up and find something else. You can do any damned thing you like."

While the bombs of enemy artillery and aircraft are exploding all about the Supreme Commander's headquarters in France, far from the battlefronts, in the peaceful little town of Abilene, Kansas, a slight, white-haired, 83-year-old mother gives us the assurance that: "Dwight's there . . . and he can't lose!"

Stadium Information

LOST AND FOUND ARTICLES — "Lost and Found" booths are in each of the two towers at the colonnade level. Losses should be reported at these booths, and articles found should be handed in there. These stands will close fifteen minutes after the game, and articles collected will be taken to Briggs Baseball Cage. On each Monday following a game all lost and found articles will be collected and deposited at the Harvard Athletic Association where they may be reclaimed.

PARKING — The official parking space is on the field behind the Stadium. This field can be entered from Western Avenue.

LADIES' REST ROOMS — These are located at the first level of the East and West towers, with entrances from both the Stadium proper and the steel stands at Sections 1 and 37 as well as 38 and 54.

MEN'S REST ROOMS — These are located under Sections 6, 7, and 8 and under Sections 30, 31, and 32, and at the East and West entrances to the steel stands.

SEATING — All persons leaving their seats between halves are required to show their seat stubs to the usher before being readmitted to their sections.

Offside and violation of kickoff formation. (Penalty, 5 yards.)

Unsportsmanlike conduct. (Penalty — 15 yards.) For flagrant unsportsmanlike conduct — 15 yard penalty and disqualification.

Illegal formation or position of one or more players. (Penalty — 5 yards from where ball was put in play.)

Player illegally in motion. (Penalty, 5 yards. If from shift or huddle, 15 yards.)

Unnecessary roughness, illegal defensive use of the hands. (Penalty, 15 yards.)

Military salute also used for clipping, followed by striking the back of the knee with hand. (Penalty, 15 yards.) Signal also used for disqualification fouls and for running into or roughing the kicker. In the latter case, the military salute is followed by swinging the leg as though punting.

Holding. (Penalty — by offense, 15 yards; by defense, 5 yards.)

Score—touchdown, field goal, or conversion.

Intentional grounding of forward pass. (Penalty — loss of down and 15 yard penalty from spot of preceding down.)

Crawling, pushing, or helping ball-carrier. (Penalty for helping ball-carrier, 15 yards; otherwise, 5 yards.)

Delay of game or extra time-outs. (Penalty, 5 yards.)

Interference with forward pass, pass touching ineligible player, or "screening" pass receiver. (If penalty on offense, 15 yards and loss of down; interference by defense, ball to offense on spot of foul as first down.)

Safety.

Penalty refused, incomplete pass, missed field goal or conversion, both sides offside, etc.

Time out.

Illegal touching of kicked ball inside opponent's 10-yard line — touchback.

Illegal forward pass.

Penalties

1. Taking more than three times out during either half.
2. Illegal delay of game.
3. Failure of substitute to report to umpire.
4. Violation of kick-off formation.

LOSS OF FIVE YARDS

5. Failure to maintain proper alignment of offensive team before ball is snapped. Also, backfield man illegally in motion.
6. Offside by either team, or encroachment on neutral zone.
7. Attempt to draw opponents offside.

8. Taking more than two steps with ball after signalling for fair catch.
9. Illegal use of hands and arms by defensive players.
10. Flying block or flying tackle.
11. Running into kicker.
12. Crawling by the runner.

LOSS OF FIFTEEN YARDS

13. Team not ready to play at scheduled time.
14. Illegal return of suspended or disqualified player.
15. Failure to stop at least one second on shift play.
16. Forward pass by member of team which did not put ball in play.
17. Forward pass touched by ineligible player.

18. Intentional grounding of forward pass.

Harvard Beats B. C., 13 to 0, in Informal Game

43,000 See 17-Year-Olds Play at Cambridge: Navin and Cowen Score Tallies

By Harry Cross

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 7.—Informal college football, played strictly for the fun of it, hit a new peak of popularity on Harvard Stadium this afternoon when Harvard defeated Boston College, 13 to 0, before an enthusiastic gathering of 43,000 spectators. The players of both teams averaged about seventeen years old and they played with all the effervescence of rampant youth. The crowd enjoyed it immensely even when the boys made mistakes. It was a fine football show for the small sum of half a dollar a ticket.

It was wartime football, and while the play didn't measure up to the standard of the games played on this hallowed turf in normal times, it aroused a refreshing wave of spontaneous enthusiasm which was genuine in its appeal.

Harvard's first touchdown came in the second quarter on elementary plays off tackle and around the ends. The players haven't had time to become schooled in the details of the T formation or forward pass cleverness. Ed Navin scored the first touchdown after a long smashing parade of sixty-five yards during which the boys hammered off their yardage a stride at a time.

In the third quarter Harvard uncovered a spectacular display of football. Bob Cowen, after Eddie Cronin had punted, made a dashing run around Boston College's left end for thirty-eight yards and advanced the ball to B. C.'s 29-yard line. Navin pried through the left side of the B. C. line for a first down on the 7-yard line and Cowen went from there over for the second touchdown around Boston College's left end. Paul Garrity kicked the goal after this score, but the first one in the second period was missed because of his fumble.

After a scoreless first period during which most of the playing was in Boston College territory, Harvard started a long march on line and end plays and advanced sixty-five yards for a touchdown. Starting on the 35-yard line late in the first quarter, the Crimson with Cowen and Navin smashing through off tackle and around the flanks, paraded to Boston College's 33-yard mark, when the first period ended.

Cowen ripped off left tackle for five yards and when he fumbled on the next play Dana Bresnahan recovered on the 25-yard mark. Navin swept around B. C.'s left wing for a first down on the 16 and Cowen and Glenn Schultz took the ball to the Boston College 1-yard mark on line and end assaults. After 3.39 minutes of the second period, Navin skirted the B. C. left end for the touchdown. The line-up:

Dear Mom + Dad,

There was a wonderful batch of mail, about twenty letters plus a big pile of newspapers waiting for me when I got back from March. 15th yesterday. Everyone has been so swell about writing - can't tell you how much it means to me.

I'm awfully tired tonight. This has been about our longest and busiest day over here. I know you'll forgive me if my letters are short - really must try to get some sleep.

I'm really picking up the mission now. It's a good feeling to have so many behind me. Each one completed brings me so much closer to the glorious day when

I'll be with my families again.

Dear Mother and Dad,

Another bright and clear Saturday morning and I imagine it is a great football day at home, too. Out here I'll be able to hear the Worlds Series ball game and the best of the West Coast football games because of the time difference. This is nice stationary, don't you think. Today I think I'll buy your birthday presents. I see it's the seventh already.

"Since You Went Away" was the movie last night. It was swell and quite a long movie. It had a really great ending so don't miss it.

Well, I lost my bet on the Cardinals but you can be sure nobody around here will bet on the outcome of the series.

I've got to get a haircut today.
I've really been so busy that those things didn't matter.

The sky is quite overcast now and it looks as though we might have rain but I doubt it.
It seems more fallish around here today. Maybe it's because of football and the millions of games that will be played less the greatest Americans of all. Her fighting men.

FLICKERS

Smooth Riding

For many years Hollywood has produced films about gangsters, who, because of Will Hays, finally get their come-uppance in the electric chair. In these films there is, without fail, a Catholic priest who pleads with the gangster to save his life before the final charge. Gangsterism and Catholicism were rampant in Hollywood, both hand in hand. These infamous people have trekked off to war now, however, leaving Catholicism in the capable hands of Jennifer Jones in "The Song of Bernadette" and Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald, portraying two likable priests, in "Going My Way." "Going My Way" is as light and amusing as "Bernadette" is serious. The comparison should go no further, however; both films are fine tributes to the Catholic Church.

"Going My Way" concerns a young priest who has a knack for writing hit tunes. With the aid of an old friend, an opera singer, the priest sells his songs and, consequently, takes Barry Fitzgerald, another prelate, and his parish out of debt. The film is not really this simple, but just different enough to make it a strong contender for the most original screen play of the year. Barry Fitzgerald will, undoubtedly, receive the best-supporting-actor award, for most critics have agreed that the end of the picture, when Fitzgerald greets his mother, is the finest bit of pantomime ever to be filmed. Both Bing Crosby and Met opera star, Risé Stevens, are excellent, but this is definitely Fitzgerald's film.

Verdicts: . . . Best picture of the month . . . Time; Delightful comedy . . . Look; . . . A tender and good humored film . . . Theatre Arts.

T. C. Baker, Auto Dealer, Dies

Theodore Colcord Baker, 53, president of the T. C. Baker Company, 31 Boylston st., Brookline, well-known automobile dealer for more than 20 years, died this morning at New England Baptist Hospital after a nine-day illness.

Funeral will be held tomorrow from his late home, 5 Perrin road, Brookline, with services at 4 p. m. at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Aspinwall av., Brookline. Rev. Fred-eric C. Lawrence, DD, will officiate.

Born in Cambridge, Mr. Baker attended Cambridge schools and the Bryant & Stratton Business College. He worked for the Bay State Fuel Company, then, in 1913, joined Troop B, 1st Cavalry Squadron, State Guard, and went to the Mexican border.

He went overseas in 1917 with the rank of first lieutenant and rose to lieutenant colonel in World War I, serving successively as commanding officer of the 101st Motor Supply Train, motor transportation officer of the 36th Division and chief motor transportation officer of the 1st American Army.

He returned in 1919, worked for a while for the Massachusetts Wharf Coal Company, then as New England manager of the Autocar Sales and Service Company. In 1923 he founded the T. C. Baker Company, of which he was president and treasurer.

He received the Republican nomination (equivalent to election) for State Representative in last July's primary, and was chairman of a committee named by the Selectmen to study and report on a survey of the Brookline town government.

He was president of the old Brookline Board of Trade, a charter member of the Kiwanis Club and a member of The Country Club, Union Boat Club, Masons, Elks and Aleppo Mystic Shrine. He was chairman of Brookline's Fifth War Loan campaign, which went over the top.

He leaves his wife, the former Edith Prescott of Boston; his brother, Edward H. Baker, vice president of T. C. Baker Company; one son, Theodore C. Jr., who is in the Army, and three daughters, Mrs. James P. Baxter 4th, Mrs. Augustus Thorndike Jr. and Miss Frances P. Baker, all of Brookline.

T. C. Baker

Men prominent in business and social life acted as ushers today at the funeral services for Theodore C. Baker, of 5 Perrin road, Brookline, well-known automobile dealer who died Saturday, in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Aspinwall av., Brookline, yesterday.

Rev. Cornelius Trowbridge of the Church of the Redeemer, Chestnut Hill, officiated at the service.

The ushers were headed by Francis T. Amory of Boston, assisted by William P. Homans, Canton; Dr. Albert Horner, Brookline; Leon Little, Brookline; Col George W. Bunnell, Brookline.

Baker leaves a wife, the former Edith Prescott; a brother, Edward H. Baker, vice president of the T. C. Baker Company; a son, T. C. Baker Jr., and three daughters, Mrs. James Phinias Baxter 3d, Mrs. Augustus Thorndike Jr., and Miss Frances Baker.

Burial will be held later at Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Dear Mom + Dad,

No flying today - a lucky break for us! Got a lot of sleep last night (14 hours!) and am now all set to catch up on my task correspondence.

I can just see you twaddling with all those bottles on the back porch. Jeanne and I used to have a lot of fun with the same situation back at our "house" in Sioux City.

The articles on the hurricane were very interesting. Really glad to hear it wasn't as bad as the last one.

Wish I might have seen Steve win the farmers race at the fair. But the crowd went wild!

O.K. on Peter's work. Don't think you'll have to worry too much about him - imagine that he will be at a permanent base most of the time, even in combat.

Yesterday was a big one for all the air forces over here as you may have read in the papers. Some hope the down thing can be finished up this year. At any rate, I should be through in a couple of months.

Some do miss those football games - haven't even seen one in two years now. The H. Argosies seem to have a pretty good outfit - considering.

Our old ship, "Hargreaves House" is no more. She was launched while we were on pass and is being dismantled.
She was a real old-timer with over sixty missions to her credit - quite a record!

It sure is swell to have a surplus of. It gives me a chance to do a lot of things that I can't when flying now.

Tennis is new to Spike and surprise don't you think. It is amazing, but they win side almost exactly with my ideas on the matter (all but the "David B. Jr" - don't use for "D's").
Much love to all, Dave.

Dear Mom and Dad,

I imagine you went to the Harvard - Boston College game yesterday. I saw that Harvard won 13 - 0 but I'll be interested to read all about it through you.

It is really too bad about Mr. Willkie passing on. A great loss to all America. I didn't think he was quite that sick.

The ball game today ought to be good. I bet you'll all be listening to it around the Sunday dinner table. We had chicken today and it was very good.

I know quite a few of the cooks and messmen
so I eat quite well.

I didn't go to the movies last night. I wrote a few letters and turned in early. This is pretty and nice. I think I'll

The Lancaster Fair Had Record Crowds in 1944

Stockholders of the Coos & Essex Agricultural Society attending the annual meeting on Monday evening found that the last fine Lancaster Fair in spite of greatly increased operating costs had shown net profit of $1306.07 without any aid from the state's Rockingham tie up. They also learned that from a stock sale of $2094.00 in 1902 the society now shows assets of $45,181.58.

There were other things not so pleasant. John Beattie, who has served as president for many years, stated he would not accept re-election. Treasurer O. Leo Connary stated the same. The latter has been a virtual manager of the fair and a very capable one for the past 17 years and he will be difficult to replace. As the fair has grown the responsibilities and details have increased until he cannot give the time from his business. It was voted that the directors make suitable recognition of the services of the two officers.

The meeting was held Monday with a fine and well served chicken-pie supper at McKee's and music was furnished by Lowrey's players of Whitefield.

Pres. Beattie presided at the business meeting and Clerk Stoughton and Treasurer Connary presented their reports.

Atty. Bernard Jacobs presented the proposed changes in the by-laws which increase the board of directors to 15 members and to include all the executive officers. Other changes were minor.

Dana Lee presented the silver trophy to the Sherman brothers, winners of the light-weight horse pulling contest and these boys now have two legs on the cup.

On motion of D. J. Truland it was voted that no political speeches be permitted at the fair in the future.

The following directors were chosen in addition to those whose terms have not expired: D. J. Truland, Albert Kenney, Sinclair Weeks, Roy Stuart, Ercel Manseau, Carl Lesnick and Reynold Guilmette.

Following adjournment the directors went into session and completed the organization by electing Dr. Dana Lee as president; Sinclair Weeks, vice president; Carroll Stoughton, clerk; Reynold Guilmette to succeed Mr. Connary as treasurer; Albert J. Kenney as race secretary and D. J. Truland as superintendent of the midway.

The Treasurer's Report

Treasurer O. Leo Connary's report probably could not be matched by any other fair association in the state. The total assets of the society, with buildings and equipment listed as of but $10,000, totaled $45,181.58; while the liabilities consisted of 1047 shares of stock, an unpaid advertising bill of $20.00, for a total of $2104, leaving a surplus of $43,067.58, of which all but $10,000 is cash.

Total receipts for the 1944 fair were $20,748.10, including $2780.50 from the Midway and $17,165.42 from admission tickets and grandstand sales. The fair was far and away the most expensive ever held by the society, costing $19,442.09, leaving a net profit of $1306.01. The major expenditures were Federal tax, $2718.82; repairs, $669.33; advertising in many newspapers, and placards, posters, etc., $1108.56; premiums, $4378.74; baseball, $1009.80; bands, $931.08; horse races, $1606.60; vaudeville and radio shows, $2400.00; labor, $1587.15. Other expenditures, itemized by the treasurer, took up the balance. No fair was operated in 1943 but there were certain fixed charges like taxes, water rent, insurance, and repairs, costing $1183.15 as a net loss to the society.

It is interesting to compare the cost of operating this year with the cost of operating in 1942, the last fair held. There was a definite increase this year in cash received from the sale of tickets. For expenses, however, the Federal tax was $1745.98 more; the baseball $229.70 more; the bands $381.80 more; horse races $664.50 more; the vaudeville show $680.46 more; the fair help $297.60 more. The premiums were $511.79 less, due mainly to fewer entries in the cattle department.

In 1942 the society spent $1227.52 for repairs while in the current year they spent but $699.33.

The Lancaster Fair has a very rugged cash balance in the treasury but it has lost its treasurer. O. Leo Connary tells us that when we object to the President having a fourth term we ought not to expect him to serve eighteen terms. Of course we can answer that argument but you know what that answer would be. We do not blame Mr. Connary for resigning an office that has made such demands on his time but we are sorry to see the society lose his services. We have worked with him during these years as we handled the society's publicity and we know much of the fine executive leadership he has given and also of the strain it is upon him. Fortunately the society has capable directors for there is little dead timber on the board. Mr. Reynold Guilmette is tackling a new job but he will do it well and do it conscientiously. In regretting the loss of Mr. Connary's services we are glad his position is to be filled ably.

Dear Mother and Dad,

I'm glad to hear that Dave and Jim are all right. It won't be very long now before it is going to be all over in that theatre.

Grandma sent me a fruit cake which was nice and enjoyed by many. I'll write to her this afternoon.

I don't think Nick will be able to get into the submarine branch. Herb Margo applied, passed the required physical, but the navy quota was filled. The truth is that they have a great number of submarines and there isn't any point in increasing this branch.

I've got another three day leave starting tomorrow. I wish I could sleep but inspections and such prevent it.

Today we started to land our planes on camels. I surely would be pleased to be in the Philippine invasion. I don't think Japan or anyone will hold up for long when Germany is knocked out.

Well, I've got a bet on the Curamals in this sixth game of the series. It's been a good series to listen to. I've got a hunch the series will be all over tonight.

Love,
Peter

Dear Mr. Wemyss:

I have just read the nice editorial about you in the "Coos County Democrat". As a lover and summer resident of the North Country for many years, I want to be included among those to express thanks to you for the great good you have rendered and are continuing to do for so many people in that section.

I trust that your change in residence will be very beneficial to your health and that you will feel like your old self without delay.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Jay:

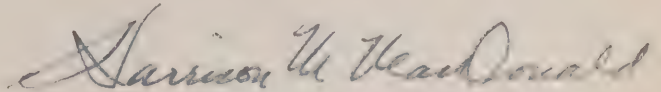

The folder and other material concerning the Law Library Fund have now been received from the printer and will be ready to mail by October 15th. You will, of course, duly receive a copy through the mail.

In the meantime I am enclosing a copy herewith for your perusal.

Here is an opportunity for a significant contribution to the great potential usefulness of the Library and the School. The alumni will not be slow to recognize the vital part they can play in the rise to eminence of their Library.

I am counting upon your ever-helpful and enthusiastic influence and support.

Sincerely yours,

TO THE ALUMNI AND FRIENDS OF THE LAW LIBRARY:

Chairman
HON. BERT E. HOLLAND
73 Tremont Street

You will be interested to learn that a permanent fund for Boston University Law Library has recently been established. A long-felt need is thus being met.

Secretary
HARRISON M. MACDONALD
11 Ashburton Place
Boston, Mass.

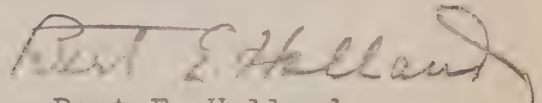

The enclosed prospectus presents the objects of the Fund; but it does no more than hint at the present great need for funds and books to provide an adequate working library for the many students soon to be flocking to our doors. The Library must be prepared not only to meet this challenge, but to expand in order to fit the requirements of a research center for legal scholars in a post-war era.

I am writing to ask if you wish to become a contributor to the Boston University Law Library Fund. Through small and large individual contributions, entirely in the determination of the donor, the Library will be able to secure many books which we could not purchase out of funds available in a war-time budget.

I hope that you will enroll as a member of the Boston University Law Library Fund by forwarding the enclosed card with your check to Harrison M. MacDonald, Secretary, 11 Ashburton Place, Boston 8 Massachusetts.

A Permanent Law Library Fund for Boston University School of Law Library

A Permanent Law Library Fund for Boston University School of Law

BOSTON UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF LAW LIBRARY

The Library of Boston University School of Law is now in its seventeenth year under the direction of its first full-time Librarian. In this period its growth in volumes has tripled (we now have 40,000 volumes), and its quarters and facilities have considerably increased. In many respects it is now self-sufficient, and is used by alumni as well as by undergraduates.

In order that the Library shall keep pace with demands which the future will inevitably bring, it is necessary at once to lay the foundations for strong alumni support. No university law library has risen to a place of eminence without such support; none can endure without it. And, to our best knowledge, no previous appeal to our Alumni has been made with specific reference to the Library.

To promote the interests of the Library, a group of alumni have joined together as an Organizing Committee to form a permanent BOSTON UNIVERSITY LAW LIBRARY FUND. To this end, Melvin M. Johnson, whose solicitude for the Library while he was Dean permitted its most effective growth, has made the initial contribution in the sum of $1000 toward the establishment of such a fund. In acknowledgment of his continued interest in the Library, reflected not only in this gift but in gifts of innumerable books, many of them rare and valuable, and because of his personal interest in a library as a research center for legal scholars, the Organizing Committee unanimously recognizes Dean Emeritus Melvin M. Johnson as founder of this Fund.

OBJECTS OF THE FUND

The objects of the Law Library Fund are:

- (1) To promote the interests of Boston University School of Law through development of its Library, both as a working collection for students and as a research center for legal scholars.
- (2) To promote the interests of law alumni throughout the United States, by providing in the Law Library sources of information on the history and development of Anglo-American Law, International Law, and Latin-American Law.

- (3) To promote the interests of all other schools and departments of the University, by providing in the Law Library legal materials useful in their respective fields.

FUND MEMBERSHIP

In recognition of contributions of money for Law Library purposes, and of books and manuscripts for the Law Library, the Committee will form honor lists of those interested in the Law Library, designating them as:

- (a) Patrons of Boston University Law Library.

When an alumnus or friend gives $100 or more to the Law Library Fund for Law Library purposes, or gives to the Law Library needed books of the value of $100 or more, he becomes a Law Library Patron.

- (b) Sustaining Patrons.

When an alumnus or friend chooses to give to the Law Library Fund for Law Library purposes, $5 or more annually, he shall become a Sustaining Patron. Sustaining Patrons will become Patrons when their accumulated contributions will have amounted to $100.

COMMITTEE OF THE FUND

- (a) The Committee of the Fund shall be composed of all Patrons and Sustaining Patrons.

- (b) The committee shall elect each year an Executive Committee of four members composed of a Chairman, Vice-Chairman, and two other committee members.

- (c) The Secretary of the Committee shall be the Librarian of the School who shall also be a member of the Executive Committee.

- (d) Its annual meeting, called by the Chairman and Secretary, shall be held in October, at which time there will be an election of officers and reports of progress.

LIBRARY FUNDS

- (a) In keeping with the usual procedure in similar Library Funds of other Law Schools, one-half of the amount donated will be available for immediate use, and the other half will go toward a permanent fund, the annual income from which may eventually suffice to provide substantial support for the growth of the Library.

- (b) Funds contributed to the Committee will be kept by the treasurer of the University in a special Fund to be known as the BOSTON UNIVERSITY LAW LIBRARY FUND.

(c) Checks, made payable to Boston University, should be sent to Harrison M. MacDonald, Secretary of the Committee, 11 Ashburton Place, Boston 8, Massachusetts.

As an expression of your good will and loyalty to Boston University School of Law, and of your interest in the development of its Library as a research center for legal scholars, the following members of the Organizing Committee invite you to become a Patron or Sustaining Patron of the BOSTON UNIVERSITY LAW LIBRARY FUND:

CARLYLE HOLT, war correspondent for the Globe in France, stands beside the monument on Le Mort Homme, a hill around which some of the most bitter fighting of the last war took place, near Verdun.

A veteran of that war, Mr. Holt is now visiting many of the areas in which he fought. Quotation above is from his dispatch printed in the Globe Oct. 3 in which he said: “A monument on the great rounded hill of Mort Homme commemorates the dead of the 40th French Division, which fought there in March and April, 1916. Attached are many small tablets placed there by families of the dead. Faded flowers and metal wreaths are placed around the bottom of the shaft.”

Dear Mom + Dad,

Nothing doing out ground school again today. I'm not kidding tho' - Ha!

Had a letter from Dad in which he told of meeting you at the stadium. How's the old boy looking these days - still as "plump" as ever?

Expect I'll be "reporting" tomorrow - at least that's the way the schedule reads. Even will be glad to finish up with those missions - they "ain't" much fun - not a bit like the movies could have us believe.

Dear Maime,

How goes everything? I trust that all is well at Raytheon, etc.

Tim and his boys are certainly doing a swell job. Don't worry too much if the ground troops' progress at times seems slow. The problems of service & supply are big ones at present & but, soon, I think, the Nazis will be on the run again.

Do you hear from the Moore very often? Fear we and I are awfully lucky to have such good mail service. We write every day and, of course, that helps a lot to keep the old morale up.

My spirits go up 100% with the flying of each new mission.
Each one brings me so much

Life over here is very dull exciting the next. Just living for the day when we all can settle down to a life of peace once again.

Write soon if you get a chance.

Lots of love,
Dave

Dear Mr. Benton:

It is a pleasure to welcome old and new members of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association. From all advance signs this year's Board will be an enthusiastic one and one capable of giving real assistance and impetus to Alumni affairs. We shall on this occasion greet our new Alumni President, Mr. Charles F. Collins, A'12.

The constitution and by-laws provide that our meetings be held on the second Tuesday of each October, December, March, and June, except when otherwise specified. Accordingly, our first quarterly gathering will come on October 10, at the Woman's Building, 146 Commonwealth Avenue, with dinner at 6 P. M. A charge of one dollar is made for the dinner.

We shall be looking for you all at that time.

Cordially yours,

Dear Mom and Dad,

I'm on another three day leave so I've been catching up on a little business. I got your birthday presents off to you and Nick yesterday. It wasn't very much but there is nothing out here that I could buy a man. I sent you some 6-20 film I was able to get hold of and I know you can use that.

A group of red-cross ladies come here each Wednesday and do all sorts of tailoring which is pretty nice.

I beg gab all day long so it's just like the Red Cross at home.

The movies have not been so good this week so I haven't been going. "Home in Indiana" is the show tonight so I think that I'll go.

I'm going to send Grandmother some Californian Redwood today. Don't tell her about it till she gets it.

How did you make out with Nicky up at school?

Dear Mr. Benton:

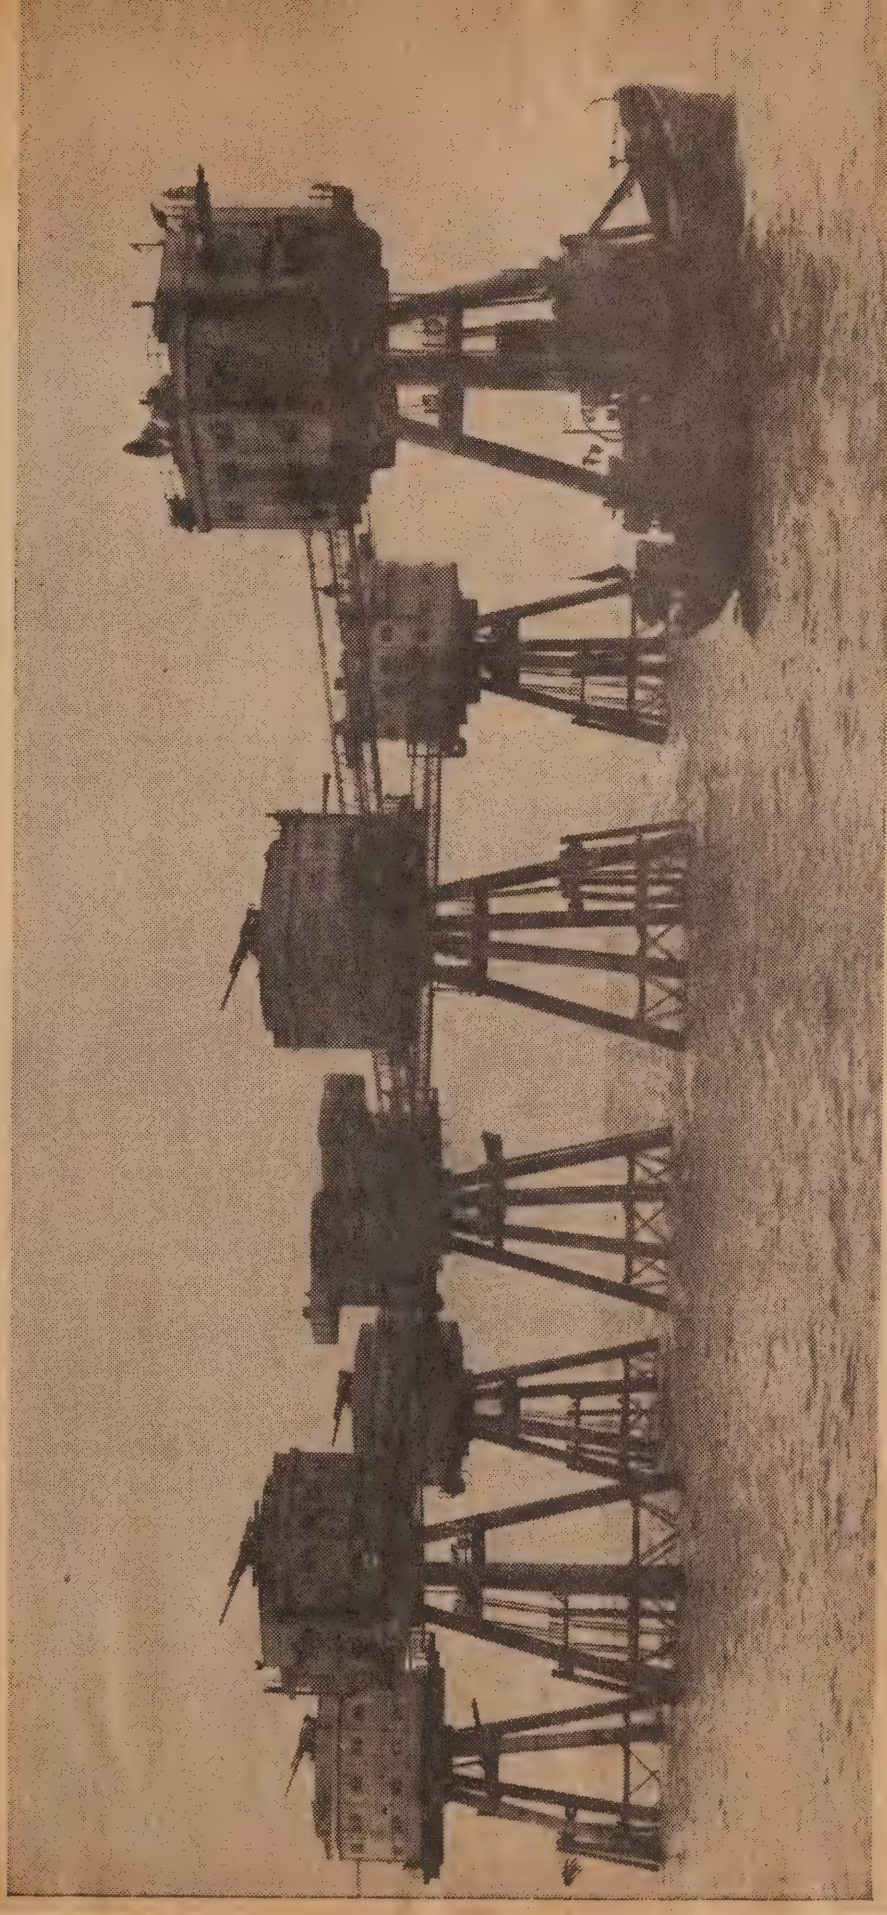

Thank you very much for your kind expression relative to the Editorial which appeared in the Coo's County Democrat of recent date. If I have been of any service to the people of our towns I am pleased indeed. I have not however severed my connections with the Mills and will continue my supervision over sa me. Dear Mom + Dad, Nothing much new to report
- I haven't flown now for almost a week. Expect we will get back into the swing of things tomorrow tho'. Hope so - I'm anxious to get in as many missions as possible before winter sets in.

The weather has been pretty gloomy recently so I've been unable to take any pictures.

We've had no mail for the last couple of days.
Are you still getting my letters regularly?
A couple of the boys

in this but have finished their tours and are going home tomorrow. Talk about happy guys! Oh, by the way, left Sioux City about two months before we did.

And that's the news —

Much love to all,
Love

P.S. I received my first Xmas card yesterday — from grandmother Boster.

Dear Mom and Dad,

Yesterday afternoon
I sent a couple of little animals set on some of the famous California Redwood. I hope she likes them because they're pretty cute as well as interesting.

I'm still on my three day pass and all I've done is read and write. I did manage to get my October birthday presents off, though which is one of my little worries gone with the wind.

Yesterday our group of radio personnel was told that we may come back to the East Coast for another mission similar to the one that we were ~~supposed~~ to go on East July. That is just a statement given to us by our communications officer and it may just be another statement. It would be grand to go East, tho, and maybe I could even come home before we left.

I saw "Home in Indiana" last night. It was very good and reminded me of Juddhall.
We had a big shakedown search yesterday. Someone stole eleven clocks out of the carrier planes and one of the C.O.'s has to pay $300 for each one unless they are found. I hope they're good and lost.

THE WOODSHED

Who can enumerate all the sweet and pungent smells of a country woodshed? Who, for that matter, can describe a woodshed? They differ more widely than houses or barns; their chief similarity, in truth, is the fact that they shelter firewood, among other things. And their pungence varies with their homeland.

In cold country, any woodshed is full of the resinous scent of fresh-split pine, and probably sweetened with that rich fragrance that only cedar possesses. In a land of mingled hardwood you will find the tanbark smell of oak, the sourish musk of green ash, the sweeter pungence of hickory. And maple sweetness will be there, not quite the sugar fragrance but something that reminds you of sugaring-off time. In corn country you are likely to find that crisp husk smell of corn cobs, stowed there for kindling; it's a smell of sweetness, too, corn-sweet and faintly dusty.

Step into a woodshed and these fragrances engulf you. Scuffle the chips and shavings and bits of bark that lie there underfoot and the air is full of redolence. If you have been long away from the country, this woodshed smell will bring you back more quickly than anything else under the sun.

Some woodsheds have other tangs. Some have open barrels of black walnuts stowed in a corner, and the pungent walnut smell hangs in the air for years. Or butternuts, or hickories. Or, in rare instances, there are stores of hazelnuts, which have more flavor than fragrance. Sometimes a saddle will be stowed in the woodshed, and there will be the smell of oil and leather. But saddles don't belong. And if it's a properly kept woodshed there's no room for saddles. But, as we said before, there are all kinds of woodsheds.

was very cute. Mr. Proctor's name for her enlarged
"figgers": "Epithelium Peaks" - ditto.

Oh yes, the sun was out for an hour or so today and I took several pictures. Pictures will be forthcoming shortly. (1)

Dear Jay:-

A recent copy of the Belmont Citizen, which was sent to me by my folks, contained a picture of David, with a brief account of his activities over-seas. Certainly you are well represented in the Armed Forces.

When you were his age, your only desire was to be always in the thick of whatever happened to be going on.

Likewise he would not have it otherwise now.

May I extend to you my congratulations, on your coming birthday, and at the same time add a fervent prayer, that both he and your other sons will be home once more, with Mrs Genton and yourself, before another birthday rolls around — in good old Belmont.

Dear Mom + Dad,

A busy day - for a change! It wasn't too tough however, so I'm not very tired tonight. As always, I feel elated about being one big step closer to finishing my tour.

On returning from a mission it's always a big thrill to see the shores of England looming up ahead of us. We have, on occasion, passed over the cliffs at Dover - a beautiful sight from the air. Today, passing low over the countryside I could see several B-29s and some games in progress.

For the first time, Boston saw the Notre Dame football team in action as they played against Dartmouth at Fenway Park. Here's the kick-off.

40,000 ARE AT THE GAME

Irish Gain 458 Yards Rushing to Losers' Minus 18—
Long Runs a Feature

By ALLISON DANZIG

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BOSTON, Oct. 14—A typical Notre Dame team that ran, blocked and tackled with all its normal pre-war speed, fire and zest for body contact buried Dartmouth today under the largest score the Fighting Irish have hun up since their 73-0 rout of Haskell in 1932.

With 40,000 spectators filling Fenway Park to capacity and taking a drenching from the rain in the second half, the South Bend simoon, after a slow start, struck with hurricane force, to all but blow the dead-game but hopelessly over-matched Hanoverians out of the park. The score was 64-0.

This was the first time that a Notre Dame football team has ever played in the Hub, and the big crowd that ventured out despite the threatening weather, saw one of the most devastating attacks ever turned loose in this city.

No Mercy Is Shown

Ed McKeever, who succeeded Frank Leahy as the coach this year, gave his men full rein, despite the fact that Dartmouth has an all-Notre Dame coaching staff, and the varsity and the substitutes, down to the third stringers, never let up in their enthusiasm for parading across the Green goal line and swarming upon any Dartmouth man who got his hands on the ball.

Bob Kelly, who looked every inch the great running back he has been proclaimed for the short time he was in the game; Frank Dancewicz and Joe Gasparella all performed in the grand manner most of the crowd hoped for, and the reserves, for a war year of big under-age complements, shone with amazing luster.

Nunzio Marino, George Terlep and Steve Nemeth added their share to the dazzling display. Nemeth made the longest run of the day for 60 yards and Marino went 54 yards on a spectacular dash along the side line, with blockers cutting down tacklers in the best Notre Dame fashion.

Dominates the Statistics

The overwhelming margin of the superiority of the Fighting Irish is reflected in the statistics. They gained the staggering total of 458 yards by rushing and 92 more through the air. Dartmouth was so helpless against the ferocious trackling of the big Norte Dame forwards that it had a net loss of 18 yards for its rushing operations, while gaining 102 with passes.

It was in the second and fourth quarters that the Irish were most fearsome. In each period they went across the goal line four times, scoring one touchdown in the first and third periods each.

They went 32 yards for their first score, with Dancewicz going over from the 5 on a quarterback sneak. Next they went 48 yards, Kelly going outside tackle from the 4. Again they went 48 for their third touchdown, and this time big Gasparella scored on a quarterback sneak of 21 yards.

Elmer Angsman, the fullback, plunged through the middle from the 6 to consummate a 67-yard march for the fourth and John Corbisiero went over from the 3 at the end of a 45-yard advance.

Scores Twice in Row

Marino made his 54-yard dash in the third period to score. Then Terlep went across twice in succession to start the final quarter. He went over from the 1 on a 50-yard advance and then tore 32 yards off tackle. Nemeth's 60-yard run ended a 68-yard advance, and Ed Clasby scored from the 1 after a Dartmouth fumble had been recovered on the Green's 20.

Dartmouth, which was handicapped by injuries to some of its best backs, never gave up to the final whistle, fighting its heart out long after its cause was seen to be hopeless. Even when the rain made a mud puddle of the field and there was danger of serious injury on the slippery surface, the Hanoverians continued to battle as though the outcome was still in doubt.

Hepless to make any progress through the powerful Notre Dame line, the Hanoverians struck through the air, and three times they were in scoring territory, but they could never get across.

Advance to the 16

In the second period they reached the 16 after Britt Lewis had thrown two passes to Tome Kazanjian for 40 yards but the Notre Dame, line led by Berezney, smeared two passes for a loss of 17 yards, and the threat ended.

On the last play of the half, a 36-yard pass put the ball on Notre Dame's 15, and in the final quarter Dartmouth recovered a fumble on Notre Dame's 35, but could get no further than the 19, where its passes failed.

Notre Dame has now scored a total of 148 points in three games. Its performance today, except in its failure to kick extra points, was worthy of the best South Bend traditions, and Army, Navy and every other opponent it meets faces the roughest sort of an afternoon from a team that is big, fast, hits like thunder without a letup and that is well stocked with replacements.

Dear Mom & Dad,

A pretty rough time today.
It was a fairly short trip tho', so I was able to get in a few hours sleep this afternoon.

Your letter of Oct. 1 arrived

Received my Oak leaf cluster to the air medal today. The citation is exactly the same as the first — excepting that it covers a different period of operations.

Expect to be "put in" for a promotion pretty soon now — in two or three weeks, I think.

Enclosed are a couple of

Notes from the Air Force

A TERRIFIC plastering of German defenses by a new fragmentation bomb preceded the First Allied Airborne Army's large-scale leap into Holland. Lt. Col. Robert G. Bennett, of the ASC ordnance section in the ETO, disclosed.

To knock out Nazi flak batteries and ground defenses, Allied bombers dropped more than 24,000 260-pound fragmentation bombs. This new bomb shatters on impact into lethal fragments which whistle through the air with devastating effects on human targets.

Altogether it was a great day for the Allied air forces. With the Forts also in action, something like 4,000 of our aircraft were over the Reich.

More than 1,000 U.S. heavy bombers, supported by 1,000 fighters, attacked railway marshalling yards and other targets at Cologne, which is 35 miles south of Duisburg.

Other U.S. bombers hit industrial targets in the Saarbrücken and Kaiserslautern areas, and for the second successive day 250 Italy-based bombers struck at oil refineries in Silesia.

Footnote: Brussels stopped work and went out into the boulevards to cheer the passage of the bombers, carrying what the Belgians call "German rations."

Receives Air Medal

Mrs. David Benton, who is residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Proctor of Seeley avenue, Arlington, has received word that her husband, Lieutenant Benton, USA, who is stationed in England, has been awarded the Air Medal with an Oak Leaf Cluster for bomber combat operations over enemy territory. He is a bombardier with the Eighth Air Force. Mrs. Benton is entertaining her sister-in-law, Mrs. Winthrop S. Jameson Jr. of Belmont, Mass., for a week.

Dear Mom and Dad,

Another beautiful Sunday out here in sunny California. Haven't been doing so many exciting things since I last wrote. I went to the usual 8:30 mass this morning. It was only a year ago that I was home on my first leave. This war seems to go on forever. I heard that Notre Dame walked all over Dardmouth. Good. Well, the Germans lost their finest general today. I hope it is over before Christmas at least. It doesn't look much like it will now. It won't be very long now before part of the squadron will go on a carrier and out to sea for a rehearsal.

511 has already gone aboard so we'll be right. That's about all for now.

"B-rrrrrr its cold, think it will snow; have to warm up some; (Later) It has warned up-- plenty of snow on the Kilkenny's, the top of the "Horn" apparently has a strip about 8 rds wide & the valley is getting a squall--No Snow Fleas as yet.

The "Pickles & Jelly" stickers arrived in good order, they now are telling us what is each can, jar and tumbler in the cold cellar, THANKS, -----.

Have placed the Garbage Cans inside the cottage, the Seth Thomas is ticking away the hours on the mantle at the Town Clerk's Office, it sure is a time teller.

Have started the roof job over the front door, found it in rather tough shape, had to put in a few new roof boards, will advise in more detail when finished.

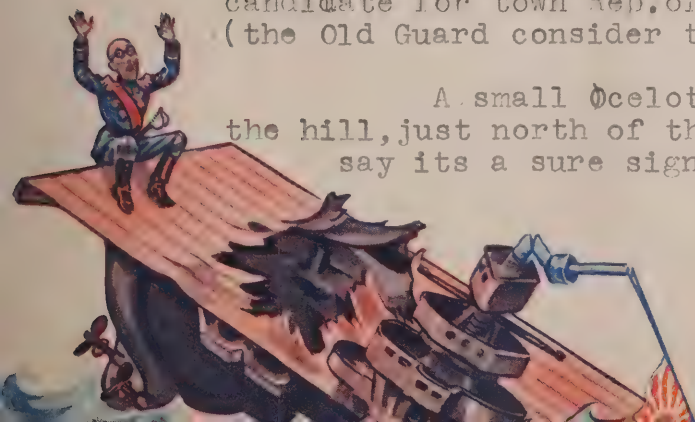

Local politics are "Looking-up", it is rumored that the local merchant will give $1\frac{1}{2}$ lbs butter for each vote (while on diet) and one candidate for town Rep. offers $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. Slippery Elm, (the Old Guard consider this a "Mouthy" offer)

A small Ocelot was seen on the brow of the hill, just north of the Congo Church, -Old Timers say its a sure sign of winter.

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR — Photographed by Egone

AS AUTUMN COMES TO THE PUBLIC GARDEN OF BOSTON

ANYBODY MIGHT WALK through Boston's Public Garden, precisely as did the photographer called Egone. People might take the same paths and be among identical surroundings, and yet they would not see what he saw and perhaps they would have left their cameras at home—cameras not being in everybody's hands in these days.

And so the photographer has summed it all up for the other people. He has chosen an autumn day, shown from the leaves strewn over the ground; and the fact that the foliage of the elms has grown a trifle scant. But it is still warm enough for a man to loiter in the sun, his bench beside the pond from which the busy ducks have come up to him in search of food. It is any day—every day—in the Public Garden, Egone has made its essence manifest.

Dear mom and Dad,

Not much has happened since I last wrote but I thought I'd write anyways. I went swimming the other day to try and teach some of my friends how to swim. With patience I think they'll be good at least a whole lot better than I. Quite a large percentage of our squadron have not done so well. I think the first bunch of us were really pretty much of the better swimmers. I'll never forget the day

I learned to swim. It was at camp one summer at Nahant. I had ^{swimmed} to get over a bunch of rocks in the water and I didn't feel like swim-

I certainly would

Dear Mom and Dad,

Here it is only two days to your birthdays. Maybe this letter will arrive on Wednesday if it makes good plane connections. You should get my packages sometime this week. It was a quiet Oct. Twelve to the here. I barely knew it was a holiday for some at home. I hold a class in code for the pilots and they're not such great students. In fact they're worse than little children. Not so fast I argue is what goes on for the whole period. It only comes at four words per minute. They'd better get used to it because that is all we use on cameras.

I heard from David on Sunday. He is almost half way finished over there. It won't be long now before He and Jim will be coming home. I could only get two rolls of film. I & they put my more on the counter "for sale", I'll send some more.

Please hold my Christmas presents for now. I can't keep them anywhere. Also save all those "Leatherneck" magazines for me. I'll write again soon.

Dear Mr. Benton:

You will have received the usual invitation to the Report Luncheon of all Divisions of the 1944-1945 Greater Boston Maintenance Appeal of The Salvation Army at the Parker House on Monday, October 16, 1944 at 12:15 p.m. I know that you will make every effort to be present.

$400,000 is a lot of money to raise on the Boston Campaign but I am confident that with the continued enthusiastic support of the active volunteer workers and of the members of the Greater Boston Advisory Board we will reach the objective.

With kindest personal regards,

Sincerely yours,

John E. Wilson

Mr. Jay R. Benton, President
Boston Mutual Life Ins. Co.
160 Congress Street
Boston, Massachusetts

Dear Jay:

I would much appreciate it if you could be my guest at a small dinner party at the Algonquin Club, October 16, 6:30 p.m., to meet Mr. M.J. Buckley, Vice President, American President Lines.

In my opinion, this is an excellent opportunity to consider certain important matters affecting our port and I do hope you can be present.

Since the time is short, perhaps you will have your secretary telephone Miss Gorman at the Chamber, Hancock 1250, so that I may know whether or not you can come.

Sincerely yours,

Henry J. Nichols

Dear Mom + Dad,

Pretty tired tonight after a busy day.

Your letters of Oct. 8 were waiting for me on return to the base - very nice.

O.K. on having sent some Xmas presents. I imagine I'll still be here when they arrive - expect to finish up towards the end of December.

So Nick wants to join the Navy! Think he'll get a good deal in V-12 or something similar.
Must get to bed in anticipation of another busy day tomorrow.

Much love to all,

Dear Mom and Dad,

I jumped out of bed early today so I could shave. Boy I needed a shave. We still haven't got any hot water in our new barracks so I had to rush across the street.

Almost, without exception miss breakfast for a whole extra hour of sleep. This noon we had turnip for dinner so I know the fall is really here. I wish I could have a whole squash pie with whipped cream. By next year I will so get ready for all eating records

Dear Mr. Benton:

We are having our Annual Dinner for Class Agents, and a few others who are especially interested in Exeter, at the Century Association, 7 West 43d Street, New York City, on Tuesday evening, October 17, 1944, at 7:15 P.M. We would like very much to have you join us so that we may have the benefit of your advice in forming our plans for the coming year.

Dr. Perry will be present and he will tell us about some of the activities and problems connected with the school.

It is customary for the President of the General Alumni Association to act as host and it is in that capacity that I extend to you this cordial invitation. We believe that you will have a pleasant and interesting evening and hope very much that you will be with us. May I hear from you?

Sincerely,

Dear Ed:

I have your invitation to the Class Agents' Dinner. There is nothing I would rather do than sit in at your first party, but it comes at a tough time for me. I will be busy getting ready for our Directors' Meeting the next day at 1:45 P.M. and at noon I have to lunch with Archbishop Cushing and Charles Spencer, President of the First National Bank relative to the affairs of the Boston Development Council. They have pinned the job of General Chairman on me.

I hate to miss your gathering but there is nothing that I can do about it. Best regards and hope to see you soon.

Dear Mr. Benton:

We have your note about the award of the Oak Leaf Cluster to your son, Lieutenant David Benton, '44. We appreciate very much your kindness in letting us know about him; we are of course delighted to be able to publish this news. We had no record of his Air Medal. Have you a copy of his citation which we can quote from? We ran last February a photograph of your son as a Cadet. We would like a more recent picture to run with this latest Note about him if you have one you would be willing to loan to us for that purpose. We hope we are not imposing on you too much.

Sincerely yours,

John, Pilbey's Scotch -

This morning American troops landed on the island of Leyte in the Philippines. The invasion forces, under the command of Gen Douglas MacArthur, are supported by the greatest concentration of Naval and air power ever massed in the Pacific Ocean.

We have landed in the Philippines to redeem the pledge we made over two years ago when the last American troops surrendered on Corregidor after five months and 28 days of bitter resistance against overwhelming enemy strength.

We promised to return. We have returned.

Thursday, October 19th 1944

My sick hunting much, going in Tom was out of the question - I spent most of the day in bed - Ascorbic + the electric heating pad. Frances was off for Boston Red Cross at 8:30 but was back at 12:30 as Mrs. Ryder was going out for the rest of the day.

For breakfast, I had clam juice cocktail - Corn flakes - Clipped Beef in cream - on toast - had coffee - For lunch - Chicken + mushroom soup - Lobster salad with Tomatoes - toast - Milk - Apple Pie + Cheese - For dinner + Soup - Cold Roast Beef - Macaroni - Navy - Cauliflower - Spinach - Salad - Milk -

This was not a very pleasant day for me -

Dear Mom and Dad,

I forgot whether I sent a letter to you yesterday or not so I'll write before the three o'clock mail this afternoon.

Yesterday I took a driver's test for my Marine Corps license. I was nervous until I started driving and then everything was all right. We drove three different types of vehicles and even a scooter. I passed easily and am just waiting now for some high ranking officer to sign it.

Later I took off with a crew and we flew all over lower California. I saw a great deal of desert land and oil well deposits. It was pretty good over

Dear Mother and Dad,

I'm glad you did like what I sent. It was hard to buy anything on this station for a father but when I go to Los Angeles to a football game, I'll get what I would like as a father of four sons and a daughter for you.

Did I tell you about the new Persian cat we have around here now.

Today we caught a live mouse in the Hanger and we gave it to her to play with and eat. The mouse scared the cat and I won the fight by a knockout. What a punk cat. It was funny to watch. Sort of like Bim and the little white mouse.

We've been doing quite a lot of important work the last day or two,

got muddled up and it

Dear Mom + Dad,

I just got back from my two day pass in Manchester.
I had a nice, restful time there. Stayed at the Red Cross Officer's Club, took in several movies,
etc.

A great batch of mail was waiting for me on my return. Lots of letters from you + Jeanne plus football programs and the H. Alumni Bulletin.

Was sorry to see by the Bulletin that Art Lippman (one of my roommates at Las Vegas) was killed on a training flight.

He was a nice guy.

I don't expect to fly tomorrow - but, "you never know".

Unfortunately, the weather in Manchester was, as usual, bad and I was unable to get any pictures.

Will write at greater length tomorrow if I don't fly.

Much love to all,
Dave

Revivals

"An old movie is a new movie, if you haven't seen it" is an appropriate adage at this time. For, tonight we are having two excellent revivals of the thirties, "The Scarlet Pimpernel" and "The Kid from Spain." We hope that these films will be the first in a series of revivals.

"The Scarlet Pimpernel," based on Baroness Orczy's famous novel, stars Leslie Howard, who, you may remember, was killed in a plane crash a year ago. Howard will, none the less, be remembered for his fine screen portrayals of Ashley in "Gone With the Wind," Philip Carey in "Of Human Bondage," and as "that damned illusive pimpernel" in tonight's film. Co-starred with Howard are Merle Oberon and Raymond Massey, who make a charming heroine and villain, respectively.

Coming Films

If you plan to take a week-end in the near future, we suggest that you keep away from "Going My Way," "Bathing Beauty," "Arsenic and Old Lace," "Dragon Seed," "Hail the Conquering Hero" and "The Canterville Ghost." These are not poor pictures, but, instead, films that the movie committee have contracted for the fall term.

Dear Mr. Benton:

You may recall that I telephoned to you early in the summer in regard to speaking to the Belmont Methodist Men's group, but your Boston University engagements made it impracticable at that time. You kindly suggested that I communicate with you again this fall.

Our organization is the Men's Commonweal Bible Class, and consists of about one hundred men, meeting each Sunday morning at 9:45 for an hour before Church, during which we have a brief devotional period followed by a talk upon some economic, scientific or social topic. We recently had Dr. V. H. Kazanjian speak upon his work in plastic surgery, Mr. Carl D. Smith, President of the Babson Institute, and Professor Melvin T. Copeland of Harvard.

We have opened this season with a series of discussions on the general theme of "Promoting Racial and Religious Understanding," and I enclose a circular letter to our members listing the speakers and their subjects.

Mr. Jay R. Benton

Many of our members are comparative newcomers to Belmont, who have established permanent homes in the town, and it seems appropriate that we should have at least one talk on the settlement and history of the town, its former market gardening industry, our form of town government and its advantages as a home community. Following this I am planning to devote a session to our educational policies.

We would enjoy very much having you speak to us upon this topic, as a fellow-townsmen. Our next open date is Sunday, December 3rd, and I wish to invite you to speak to us on that date.

The precise subject and the scope of your talk will of course be of your own choice, and we shall deem it a great privilege to have you come and speak to us.

I earnestly hope we may have a favorable reply.

Cordially yours,

A quiet day with no flying. Our combat missions will probably become "further and further between" with the approach of winter weather. It is possible that we may not complete our tour over here after all. Of course, all depends on the rapidity of the German collapse.

Dear Karl:

I have intended to write you before along these lines, but pressure of home office work has delayed me. I wish you would check and make sure that Carlos Hodge has attended to all the details about closing the cottage - putting inside all the piazza furniture and rugs, taken down the awnings, shut off the water, put kerosene in the toilets seats, all windows and doors locked. I think we closed all the flues in the fireplaces so that swallows cannot get down inside. Check on anything else that comes to mind. This will be much appreciated.

PACIFIC (Battles of Philippines)—The naval battles the Philippines in progress since Oct. 23 and possibly continuing have achieved for the United States Pacific Fleet a victory the magnitude of which cannot yet be measured.

Incomplete reports suggest that the Japanese Navy is pretty nearly all washed up, although remnants will constitute a fleet in being to delay our progress for a time. A total figure of 30 Jap warships sunk, probably sunk and damaged tells only part of the story. The serious loss to the Japs is their loss of capital ships, battleships and carriers.

Dear Mom + Dad,

Another busy day so, once again, I'm pretty tired and going to bed early tonight. It certainly feels good to be that one big step closer to going home tho' - it won't be too long now.

General Doolittle, in a radio speech last night, spoke of one of our recent targets as being the most heavily defended place (more flak guns per unit area) in the world. I am agree with him wholeheartedly - Ha! Will you, by any chance, hear the speech.

The mail situation continues to be good - two letters from you today.

Japanese Carrier Burning Off the Philippines

Under full steam a large enemy craft flees from United States Navy carrier-based planes east of Luzon. Navy caption says "she was coming from deck  picture made hour and a half before she heeled over and sank." Navy thought the carrier was the Zuikaku.

Dear Mom + Dad,

Nothing much accomplished today. They had us up very early but we never did go on a mission. I was back in bed by noon and slept till five.

No mail today but I can't think what with lots of it for three days straight. A lot of the boys are getting Xmas packages already so I imagine that mine will be coming through shortly.

This is Team's 23rd birthday. Sure wish we could all be together for a celebration.

It's awfully cold here tonight
— I'm beginning to dread the coming of winter. We should be through with our flying, however, before the really bad weather sets in.

Much love to all,
Dave

JAY'S RIBS - OCT 27, 1944

Friday, Oct. 27th 1944

Up early and preparations for the visit to Tim O'Hare - Weight 170½ on June 8th it was 169 + for breakfast - orange juice - Wheat Germ Droffed Eggs on toast - Iced Coffee - Moody came again at 8.40 and so to Allston and to the office. Freddy Church came in to talk about the Boston Development Council. Took Belmont Tercentenary Book up to Seth Gano at 199 Washington St. Back to the office. Mrs. Samuel W. George came in with framed picture of Mr. George to be put in the "Knockers Club" room at the Parker House + Out at 12.15 with Everett Lane to Durgin Park's + Beefsteak Pie - Bartlett Pear + As Iver Johnson's - Mr. Blake spliced 4 movie reels for me. Bought a box of flash Bulls and a 620 film. Back to the office - Rested - Left at 3.10. Subway to Kenmore Square. to Tim O'Hare. Everything OK. except he looked at my back carefully and then advised having some X-Rays taken - So I went over to Dr. Paul F. Butler, 35 Bay State Road - did not take long. Frances waiting for me in the car near the Sigraton. A Stop at Griffins. Then home. Dinner and bed early.

Driving rain, sleet and snow with cold winds swept many parts of New England yesterday as a north to northeast storm raged on the fringes of the coast and as Boston felt its first touch of winter in the guise of light hail.

Saturday, October 28th 1944

A blustery cold day. Had breakfast upstairs - Read papers and magazines all morning - at 11 Hannah came and put what they call a "stay" (it looks and feels like a straight jacket) around my back and chest - this to keep everything tight and to prevent movement. Jim O'Hare called and said the X-Ray plates showed no breaks - however he wants me to wear the "stay" for a week. Had lunch upstairs at 3, Frances took me down to Belmont Center - I to the Draft Board - then the Concord Avenue Field - to see Belmont play Chelsea in football - a live game. Then walked to Oliver's Drug store - there met Nicholas - home from Exeter - to the Draft Board with him. Then Taxi home - later his friend Ronald Rogers came for dinner - Frances had a Birthday cake for Nicholas and Halloween Table Decorations - To Bed early - uncomfortable trying to sleep in the "Stay"

Chelsea Safety Gives Red Devils 12-9 Win

BELMONT, Oct. 28—Chelsea held a fighting Belmont team for downs on the one-inch line in the last minute of the struggle today, and then proceeded to take a deliberate safety to eke out a 12-9 victory.

It took Chelsea exactly four plays to find the scoring column. Jennerazzo of the Red Devils blocked a quick kick attempt by Belmont's Johnny Kelley, and teammate Glazier scooped up the ball on the Belmont eight, to carry it over for the initial score.

Belmont recovered a Chelsea fumble at midfield, and then went on to rack up three first downs in advancing the ball to the Chelsea eight. Dick Shea and Johnny Kelley bore the brunt of this drive.

Then Don MacDonald faded back and let loose a pass to Jack Gibson, who took the ball in the end zone. Johnny Kelley placekicked the extra point.

The second Chelsea score was the result of another blocked quick kick. This time the Red Devils recovered on the Belmont 37. An end run by Glowacki was good for 27 yards, and Finnegan went over for the score two plays later.

The MacDonald-to-Gibson passing combine started clicking for Belmont in the last quarter, with Belmont advancing to the Chelsea 22.

However, Chelsea took over after a Belmont fumble. The Red Devils made a first down and then fumbled on the 40. Andy Wettlauffer of Belmont scooped up the ball and scooted to the three before being downed.

With time running out, Belmont tried to crack the Chelsea wall with a series of four running plays, but the Red Devils refused to yield the score, taking over the pigskin on the one-inch line.

Glowacki took an intentional safety for the Red Devils, and the game was over after Chelsea made its free kick.

Smooth Riding

For many years Hollywood has produced films about gangsters who, because of Will Hayes, finally get their come-uppance in the electric chair. In these films, without fail, there is a Catholic priest who pleads with the criminal to save his soul before the final charge. Gangsterism and Catholicism were rampant in Hollywood, both hand in hand. But now these infamous characters have trekked off to war leaving Catholicism in the capable hands of Jennifer Jones in "The Song of Bernadette," and Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald as two likable priests in "Going My Way." "Going My Way" is light and amusing as "Bernadette" is serious, but the comparison should go no further. Both films are fine tributes to the Catholic Church.

"Going My Way" concerns a young priest who has a knack for writing hit tunes. With the help of an old friend, an opera singer, he manages to pull his poor parish and its prelate out of debt by selling one of his pieces, "Swingin' on a Star." The plot is really not this simple; it is different enough to be voted the most original script of the year. Barry Fitzgerald will, unquestionably, win this year's best supporting actor's award, for most critics agree that the end of the picture, when Fitzgerald greets his mother, is the finest bit of pantomime ever filmed. Crosby and Rise Stevens, Met opera star, are both excellent, but this is definitely Fitzgerald's film.

Dear Mr. Benton:

In the planning of lectures, concerts, plays, dances and other regular events in the Academy the need for a calendar giving an over-all picture of the school year has long been felt. Such a calendar was pieced together last summer in connexion with the arrangement of the Lecture Course. An ever normal week of extracurricular activities was added to illustrate the variety of student interests. A mimeographed edition of the calendar in four pages made its appearance about three weeks ago. In order that every boy might have a calendar a new edition on a single sheet was printed by the NEWS LETTER last week. Dr. Perry and I thought you might be interested in seeing a copy.

Faithfully yours,

Dear Mom & Dad,

Had a swell twelve hours sleep last night. That, plus no flying today, takes care of my much needed rest. We're all set to go again now and more eager than ever with the end of our tour in sight.

Our crew is one of the oldest in the squadron now — just a couple of more missions to their credit than we do.

It's not quite so cold today as it has been recently — still cool enough to warrant a stone fire in our hut tho'.

I suppose Emma has told you of "Vale" Peter's gift to

Is Nick doing anything with

USSTAF Bombing Lauded By RAF Squadron Leader

The "predominant part" played by the U.S. Strategic Air Forces—the Eighth and 15th—in the campaign against Germany's oil resources was lauded recently in an analysis broadcast over the BBC by John Strachey, an RAF squadron leader.

He said that the first task of the Fortresses and Liberators before they could go for oil or anything else was to strike down the rising defensive power of the German air force itself. The bombing of Nazi aircraft factories reached its peak the latter part of February when in one week USSTAF heavies pounded "almost every one of the basic German fighter assembly plants."

In April, a sustained and concerted attack on Hitler's oil resources began.

Strachey singled out the British-based Eighth Air Force for its bombing of synthetic oil plants around Luena, Brux and Politz in central Germany. In the case of the 15th, based in Italy, he said, "We now know exactly what they achieved, for when the Russian troops entered Ploesti and so captured the Rumanian refineries they found that the output of Rumanian oil had been reduced to under a quarter of what it had been four months before."

Meanwhile, photographs made by later formations in the Eighth's attack last Wednesday on oil refineries at Hamburg, Germany, showed smoke billowing up more than 8,000 feet through the cloud layer. Adverse weather grounded the Eighth heavies yesterday

Dear Jay:

First copies of the "Curier and Reporter" arrived last week, read from cover to cover, greatly appreciated by the leaves! no excuse for not knowing whats doing in the North Country now.

The Reading Glass is just what I wanted, could'nt of picked out a better one, perfect, says I, however, did not expect you to send it along with your compliments, in fact, I had made arrangements whereby a small loan was forthcoming from one Carrie Higgins, she in turn, taking 1st Mortgage on one Rose Arch, seriously, it was damn kind of you and I like it. Thanks.

I have completed the roof job over the front door, some of the roof boards had rotted away, undoubtly due to that Bitter Sweet vine, these were re-placed, one course of cedar shingles laid at the eaves in order that water would not run down the finish, a double course of fire proof shingles (same as on house) placed over the cedar, then single course on up, some new zinc placed between clapboards and roof, I feel sure that it will keep the water out, a good job if I do say so. When we re-modeld our house, I had some roof material left over, in checking up found enough to do the job, metal ridge roll and ball complete, therefore, please accept the job with MY COMPLIMENTS.

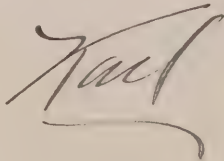

Have just been up to the cottage, found it partially closed up, shutters closed, porch furniture inside, however, the awnings are still up and the water not shut off, expect the awnings have been left in order to dry, however, "It's time to change" also "Close-up", tried to see Carlos but he was away, have to handle some people with gloves on, "A word to the wise, etc etc."

The State has been giving the road in front of the house a coat of tar and rocks, talk about a rough job, "Brother" that's one.

Republican rallies are being held in Essex County, Bloomfield last week, Gilman this Thursday, Rep. Chas. Plunley of Vermont key note speaker, does a good job, gives 'em Hell.

Jay: I wonder how you would feel about letting me take the cut "The Upper Connecticut Valley At Guildhall", the more I see of it, the better I like it, don't want to steal your Thunder, but would like to have a ream of letter heads made up, have plenty of paper, whatever you decide will be O.K.

Best ever,

Tuesday morning
October 31, 1944

Mr. Karl E. Hayes
Guildhall, Vermont

Dear Karl:

You have done a grand job on that front door porch roof and I am very much obliged. I am glad you liked the reading glass. Be sure to keep in touch diplomatically with Carlos - as the "Cottage" must not freeze up nor loose ends left hanging in the breeze, inside or out.

The cut of the bird's eye view of "Guildhall in the Valley" looking down from the main spring of the Guildhall Aqueduct Company on the top of Northumberland Heights is safely stored away in my box of electrotypes in my attic at Belmont. I will get it out tonight and mail it to you tomorrow. I think your idea of having some letterheads printed up for your use is a darn good idea and I am delighted to cooperate.

Give my best to Mae and Jane. Not over three weeks to "Snow Flea" time.

Cheerfully yours,

Jay R. Benton

Dearest Mom Benton,

It was so nice of you to call last Friday evening, I'm very sorry not to have been in at the time. Your wife came later - thanks so much!

I am so thrilled - Dave sent me $25 for my birthday - with strict orders to buy "something special" with it. I haven't decided what as yet!

Earlier this evening I visited the doctor - everything is fine except my weight. I now weigh 130 which, Dr. Hall says, is entirely too much! He forbade me to eat any fattening foods — I am going to be very careful about my diet from now on.

The doctor says O.K. on a trip to Boston next month. It will be grand to see you and for you to see your grandchild at this half-way stage. Will the ~~the~~ weekend of the 17th be all right?

Bert and Ed send very best regards to all.

Love to you and Dad,

Dear Jay:

With reference to the action taken yesterday at the meeting of the Trustees of Belmont Public Library, which you and I discussed together this morning, I write to inform you that I have appointed you as Chairman of the Committee to formulate and present to the Belmont Post-War Public Works Commission, through Mark R. Shibles a member of that Commission, and designated as the one to take up any proposal for post-war work presented by the Library, the request of the Library Trustees that in post-war construction the Commission shall consider the desirability of enlarging the central Library building in general according to the plans made and presented to the Town some years ago, at which time the proposition was rejected.

I am appointing as the other members of the Committee, W. Leavitt Stoddard and Miss Luard, and I shall be glad to be either an unofficial or ex-officio member.

I shall leave it to you to call the committee together.

Belmont Public Library

The Trustees of the Belmont Public Library request the Belmont Post-War Public Works Commission to consider in their Six-Year Construction Program the enlargement of the Central Library by the addition of two wings as shown on plans on file at the Library.

This addition is necessary in order that the Library may operate efficiently for the educational needs of the Town of Belmont. The attached leaflet, prepared in 1940, sets forth the growth in the Public Library where the crowded condition of the shelves calls for more space for the present and for future expansion.

The total estimated expense for the addition of two wings to the Central Library building including electric light wiring and fixtures, shelving, furnishings, heating, etc., will amount to $59,967.00. Details of this estimated cost are on file at the Library.

today - another one of those dismal lulls.

Bellows who flew this morning reported temperatures of 50° below zero - Brrr!

Oh yes, I also took a bath today - really a ~~big~~ big event in the Eto!

well, Thanksgiving will soon be here. Major Caldwell, mess officer, promises plenty?

Thanking for all. It will be just our luck to get comfort that day - Ha!

may fly tomorrow so I'm off to bed.

Much love to all,
Dave

Dear Mom + Dad,

We were up very early this A.M. but, didn't fly.
Can't say that I was too disappointed — the plans called for an especially rugged day.

The mail situation continues to be poor — tomorrow should see an improvement tho'.
The Xmas rush will, no doubt, slow things up even more.

We have a two day pass coming up on Sunday. I think I shall go to Manchester again. London, they tell me, is much too crowded to be enjoyed these days.

David Benton
1/2 P.M. N.Y.

I spent a good part of the day sleeping - collected my pen (always a most pleasant "hore"!) - and went to the movies this evening. Its a tough run - Ha! I hate the main trouble with this life - its either too rough or too easy. There is no middle road.

I can estimate fairly well just when we should finish our mission and now just counting the weeks and days to go.
The time should pass quickly and then we shall have our great mission.

Dearest love to all,
Dave

Dear Mom and Dad,

My new address is;

Sgt. P. J. B.

Hq. Sq. MAG-51
USMCAS Mojave,
California

For the present time I'll be in Headquarters squadron until something new turns up.

I've lost my old squadron - 512 because it has been broken up.
The lunch I'm in now is pretty crowded so I doubt if I'll remain in that group. I'm going to school now and it is almost like Jacksonville. The only difference is that I take advanced subjects. It's a snap for me and I hope it doesn't keep going on and on. From 8 to 9 I drill then I have a two hour class in visual communications. From one to two I have another class and from 2 to 4 is devoted to recreation.

It is getting colder as the days go on and does the wind blow. Pretty soon we're going on a breeze, and I can imagine how cold it will be up in those mountains. I can really pile up a good nights sleep out here.

Last week I got a nice certificate from the National Red Cross for that swimming I did a few weeks back. I read about Rodney Ford getting married in Jacksonville. I remember the Chapel down there and it was very beautiful. Just a year ago I was learning radio operating and did let you know about it.

I let every hill night. Elements is out tonight raising. I admitted I certainly would like to be there to see them all. Night. I hope. Last week I had letters from Jim David and Jeanne. I've got to answer all your letters so I'll close for now.

With a love I love, I love
Your Son,

I love it all now. Peter

"Prices of items that may be sold and which do not appear on this menu are listed on the A La Carte menu which is available for inspection."

Due to shortages in the butter market, the increase in points per pound and our desire to use red points for meat for our patrons, we are discontinuing the service of butter after 11:00 A. M. on week days and 12 o'clock noon on Sundays and Holidays. This action, which we hope will be temporary, follows the unanimous recommendation of the members of the City of Boston Hotel Association.

Sunday Morning on Tremont Street

IN THIS colorful scene the artist has caught the crisp clearness of winter and the tranquil atmosphere of Boston in 1869. Prominent in the foreground is "Brimstone Corner" at Park and Tremont Streets, with historic Park Street Church the center of the brilliant composition. The "Old Granary" burying ground, still a Boston landmark, is visible adjacent to the church, and in the rear stands the old Tremont House, which faced the original Parker House and with it shared international fame as the finest hostelry in the world. "Brimstone Corner" was so called because brimstone for making gunpowder was stored in the church during the War of 1812 and the "Old Granary" burying ground derives its name from the fact that on its site once stood the town granary.

Thank Jay for all the "dope" 7 OCT 31-44
on the Lancaster Fair, also Tues Day - Please give my love to Louise and Pat.

Frances Dear -

I excuse please, this long silence - and am ashamed of it, after having such a nice, and very interesting letter from you. It was great to hear all about your fine family and whatever you left out of the letter I heard from Mary. We simply love having the girls here for a snack before their theatre - they are both darling, so natural and interesting - Chester and I got a real Pick out of them - I can understand how you must love Jeanne very much, she is adorable. When you wrote that you will be a grandmother in Feb. I was certainly surprised because I had never heard that Jedryne and David finally got married. Last I knew was that the wedding here had to be cancelled! David is very handsome and Jim pure is doing a swell job over Germany.

You and Jay can very well "pick out your charts" with such a grand family. Both girls were so cute with their husbands photographs in their purses - Jim too is certainly a "Pick-out."

The next before they were here Marion Hill was in town to attend the "Forum" at Valdov.
She came up with the girl who is Pres. of the Harland School League - a sweet girl also.

I adore Marion - she too has both feet firmly planted on the ground, and is filled with good ~~ideas~~ sense; she is fact in school with her is in Texas. Mary too probably told you all this. Suzanne has a son - "Wanda-Richardson Lee" - a nice name I think. Fred is on inactive duty - being over 38 he could apply for it.

He looks fine, and tho he had a hard job, which he did well, he came out feeling very well. We are probably spending Christmas with them in Athens, which thrills me no end as we have not seen the children for two years! Chester is in good shape and I am still old and fat, however I manage to get around and will show you how "spry" (?) I am when you come over - We have loads of new stories for you, and my hand is not yet too shaky to hold a glass, so hurry on over. Love Loads of love to you and Jay and all the family. Truly Elaine
